

The objective of the continuous improvement program is to cut costs and increase sales by reducing our waste and meeting internal and external customer requirements

